The amendments to the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order 1975 (2013 and 2020) provides that when applying for certain jobs and activities, certain convictions and cautions are considered 'protected'. This means that they do not need to be disclosed to employers, and if they are disclosed, employers cannot take them into account.

Do you have any convictions or cautions (excluding youth cautions, reprimands or warnings) that are not 'protected' as defined by the Ministry of Justice? If you do have any convictions; before signing this declaration form, you must check the filtering rules to determine if you should declare them or if they are now 'protected' and no longer require disclosure.

Failure to disclose any previous convictions or cautions that are not protected could result in dismissal should it be subsequently discovered.

Having a criminal conviction will not necessarily bar you from employment. Any information given, either when returning this declaration form or at interview will be entirely confidential and will be considered only in relation to this application.

It is an offence to knowingly apply for, offer to do, accept, or do any work in a regulated position if you have been disqualified from working with children.

Any offer of employment will be subject to checks being carried out in order to ensure that you are not subject to a prohibition order or an interim prohibition order as well as undergoing the checking of criminal convictions via obtaining an Enhanced DBS certificate and checking that you are not barred from working with children.
